Prepare for a World Reopening

Support community health with the Virus Testing portable restroom

Businesses everywhere are beginning to prepare for the reopening of the nation after COVID-19 shelter-in-place orders. There is an air of both caution yet excitement as a glimpse of normal, everyday life seems to be in view. We at PRT are ready to see the businesses we have gotten to support with portable restroom trailers thrive once again! We hope that everyone does their part to help save lives during this global pandemic as we reconnect with one another face-to-face.

The newest portable restroom option that has arrived just in time for the end of stay-at-home orders is the Virus Testing Trailer. Learn about this unique tool and see how it can support your business.

Teri's Corner

To my fellow business owners and entrepreneurs, can I just say: WHAT A YEAR! There is really no sugar coating the stress, uncertainty, and difficult decisions that have been our day-to-day for the past several weeks.

Despite this journey, what keeps me going is the positive. It's finding the light in the dark, the learning curve in a hard situation, the perseverance that comes from struggle and loss. Now, it is more important than ever that we lead with hope, not fear. Take time to connect with your partners and employees and encourage them. We have had many hard conversations lately, filled with an even mix of good news and bad news. Be honest, be real, and prioritize human connection in business despite the space we must keep between us.

Check out this article for some tips on how to connect with, inspire, and encourage your team during uncertain times. We'll get through this together.
